

Chris Foran

Managing Director

My position is Managing Director, I am responsible for the overall performance of the business and have been since its inception.

My role is to shape the strategy, future, and direction of our business. Identifying, sourcing, developing and driving our relationships with other companies including Utilities, Local Authorities and business.

The ultimate goal is always to maintain quality installations, daily and nationwide, altogether playing our part in the Net Zero journey, electrification of heat and the decarbonisation revolution.

We build relationships with our customers, designing and installing innovative, more sustainable and personalised energy solutions that help them to reduce their energy bills and carbon footprint.

I am originally an electrician by trade and have worked internationally with various blue-chip organisations. Living and working in Belgium, France and Australia. I have held the position as Managing Director within the construction and energy markets for over 20 years.
